Husch Blackwell Guides Five Elms in Investment in BoreDM

National law firm Husch Blackwell represented Five Elms in its investment in BoreDM, a leading provider of cloud-based borehole logging, geotech data management, and subsurface reporting software.

With Five Elms' backing, BoreDM will accelerate a broad expansion of its core platform capabilities, including intelligent log digitization, expanded lab functionality, automated data processing across geotechnical, environmental and construction materials testing workflows, and adaptive data quality tools.

The Husch Blackwell team was led by partner Ed Wilson and included attorneys Gabriel Riekhof (M&A), Brittany Huang (M&A), Paige Reese (intellectual property), Jack Rellihan (benefits and compensation), Catarina Colón (labor and employment), Shannon Kapadia (intellectual property), and Jacob Stephens (tax).
