Alejandra Curiel-Molina to Receive 2026 Emerging Leader Award from the Los Abogados Hispanic Bar Association

National law firm Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Phoenix-based attorney Alejandra Curiel-Molina has been selected by the Los Abogados Hispanic Bar Association as the recipient of its 2026 Emerging Leader Award.

The Emerging Leader Award honors an attorney with less than 10 years of experience who has demonstrated significant promise as an emerging leader, as well as a distinguished commitment to community service and leadership.

Curiel-Molina is an associate in Husch Blackwell's International Trade & Supply Chain practice, where she defends clients—particularly those in the transportation industry—in complex commercial litigation matters.
