Jordan Ault Completes Intensive Certification Program in Nonprofit Management

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that partner Jordan Ault has obtained graduate certification in Nonprofit Management from Duke University.

Based in the firm's Jefferson City office, Ault launched and co-leads Husch Blackwell's Nonprofit Organizations & Religious Institutions team. "My goal is to better understand nonprofit governance, finance, and strategy so I can serve as a stronger advocate for firm tax-exempt clients," Ault said. "As our relationships with tax-exempt clients grow, our role often evolves from offering legal guidance to participating in strategic discussions. A strong understanding of how legal issues impact our clients' strategy and mission is an important part of the services we provide."

Ault completed Duke University's accelerated eight-day Nonprofit Management program designed to give nonprofit professionals the skills and expertise needed to succeed in the sector.
