Chase-Lubitz Receives Rhode Island Monthly Professional Excellence in Law Award

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Jeffrey F. Chase-Lubitz has received a Professional Excellence in Law award from Rhode Island Monthly in the category of Health Care Law.

Partner Chase-Lubitz, based in the firm's Providence office, provides a variety of legal services to healthcare clients, advising on corporate matters, transactions, regulatory compliance, contract negotiations, affiliations and health data and privacy issues. He joined Husch Blackwell as part of the firm's New England expansion in September 2021.

2022 marks Rhode Island Monthly's fourth annual presentation of its Professional Excellence in Law Awards. Honorees are chosen based on several criteria ranging from peer reviews, professional standing and other data collected by a third-party survey company. The list is selective, representing fewer than six percent of area lawyers.
