HUSCH BLACKWELL

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

WHITE PAPERS PUBLISHED: DECEMBER 21, 2022

International Trade Law: 2022 Year in Review & Outlook for 2023

Services

Customs

Export Controls & Economic Sanctions

International Trade & Supply Chain

Section 337

Supply Chain Logistics

Professionals

STEPHEN BROPHY
WASHINGTON:
202.378.2408
STEPHEN.BROPHY@HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

JOSEPH S. DIEDRICH
MILWAUKEE:
414.978.5425
WASHINGTON:
202.378.2300
MADISON:
608.255.4440
JOSEPH.DIEDRICH@HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

BEAU JACKSON
KANSAS CITY:
816.983.8202
WASHINGTON:

Husch Blackwell's fourth-annual international trade law year-in-review report provides a detailed look at how 2022 played out and takes a peek at how 2023 might develop. As companies continue to work through the challenges associated with supply chain dislocations, geopolitical turmoil, and evolving trade policy, regulation and enforcement, we hope the framework presented in our report will help your business maximize potential cost savings and minimize potential risks.

Our downloadable report, “International Trade Law: 2022 Year in Review & Outlook for 2023,” focuses on these key areas:

Tariffs, Trade Remedies, and Trade Policy

Antidumping/Countervailing Duties

U.S. Customs and Border Protection Developments

Section 337 Litigation

Export Controls and Trade Sanctions

Supply Chain

Download Report

You can also subscribe to Husch Blackwell's International Trade Insights blog to stay up-to-date on changes in international trade and supply chain law throughout the year.

© 2026 HUSCH BLACKWELL LLP. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED