Husch Blackwell Adds Private Wealth Partner Garrett Reuter, Jr.

National law firm Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Garrett Reuter, Jr. has joined as a partner in its Financial Services and Capital Markets industry group and as a member of its Private Wealth team. He is based in the firm's St. Louis office and will be active in meeting with clients across the Southern Illinois and St. Louis areas.

Reuter focuses his practice on estate planning and assisting clients with their personal wealth through tax planning, multi-generational planning, trust and probate administration, pre- and post-marital agreements, planned charitable giving, and will and trust contests and litigation.

"Garry further enhances our team in St. Louis, expands our services in Southern Illinois, and complements our existing client base with his diverse portfolio," said Sverre Roang, leader of the firm's Financial Services and Capital Markets industry group. "We are delighted he has joined Husch Blackwell."

In addition to his sophisticated private wealth practice, Reuter provides closely-held businesses with corporate advice including entity formation, ownership structure, buy-sell agreements, and guidance on other general business needs in areas such as employment, intellectual property, real estate, and litigation.

"I'm thrilled to join the dynamic private wealth team at Husch Blackwell where I'll continue to serve my clients in Southern Illinois, St. Louis, and around the country," Reuter said. "I have a sophisticated client base with needs that vary across legal disciplines both in and outside my practice, and Husch Blackwell's extensive depth and full-service platform will greatly benefit the services available to my clients."
