Springfield Business Journal Names Cory Collins a 2025 Man of the Year Honoree

National law firm Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce Springfield Business Journal has named partner Cory Collins to its 15th annual Men of the Year class, which honors the philanthropic and civic contributions of 20 businessmen throughout the Springfield, Missouri region.

Collins represents clients from individuals to Fortune 500 companies where he counsels on business and commercial litigation, including construction, real estate development, employment, product liability, contracts, negligence and property claims. He advises clients on property deals that involve acquisition and expansion loans, platting and development of real property, zoning issues, mechanic's liens, and development incentives, including Tax Increment Financing (TIF), Community Improvement Districts (CID) and Opportunity Zones. He also works with banks and financial institutions on a variety of banking issues, from loan documents to security questions.

Collins will be honored at an event on April 25 at the White River Conference Center.
