Bruce Arnold Selected to the Wisconsin Law Journal Healthcare Powerlist

National law firm Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Milwaukee-based partner Bruce Arnold has been named to the Wisconsin Law Journal Powerlist for Healthcare.

With decades of experience representing companies and providers at every stage of the healthcare continuum, Arnold counsels clients on all aspects of the healthcare field, including hospital-physician strategic alignment, payor agreements (from both the provider and payor perspectives) and joint ventures, advising multispecialty clinics, individual or small-group physician practices, Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) and ambulatory surgery centers.

The Wisconsin Law Journal powerlists recognize attorneys who are leaders in the region. The Journal's editorial team made the final choices for this list based on stories published during the year, recommendations from attorneys across Wisconsin, and outcomes achieved in cases.
