OVERVIEW

Anne is a Labor & Employment lawyer who helps employers navigate investigations, litigation and day-to-day compliance.

Anne is well versed with state and federal labor & employment law. Manufacturing and technology employers value her guidance on cost-saving risk mitigation by way of policies, training and handbooks. Clients also value Anne's secondment experience for an international chemical manufacturer acting as in-house employment and contracts counsel. Anne is familiar with the range of day-to-day labor & employment issues employers must balance, including:

- Title VII – Employment Discrimination
- Wage and hour
- Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)
- Employment and other contracts
- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA)
- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)
- Privacy

When claims surface despite best efforts, Anne is experienced in navigating clients through both internal investigations, as well as state or federal agency investigations, such as those initiated by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). Anne views such investigations as opportunities to provide practical solutions that avoid future disputes. Anne
