OVERVIEW

Whether clients are forming, growing or governing businesses, Megan assists in the corporate deals and transactions necessary to move forward.

A corporate attorney, Megan focuses her practice on helping clients of all sizes – from emerging startups to international corporations – establish, grow and protect their businesses. Although she works with clients across all sectors, a particular area of counsel includes the functional food and beverage industry.

Megan counsels companies on all aspects of transactional matters, which includes the initial startup phase, corporate governance, debt and equity financings, and mergers and acquisitions. Her work includes negotiating, drafting and reviewing a wide variety of documents to facilitate the closing of business combinations. Further, Megan provides individualized solutions to clients with a broad array of contracts, including licensing agreements, consulting agreements and service agreements. Megan also develops and updates customized compliance guidelines for functional food and beverage companies across the U.S.

Megan assists clients with contractual agreements including terms and conditions, consulting and professional services agreements.
