OVERVIEW

Tim is a forward-thinking IP, media, and franchise strategist who turns complex legal challenges into business wins.

Tim provides sophisticated counsel in intellectual property (IP), franchising, advertising, and media law. Tim is widely recognized for his strategic approach to portfolio management and counseling for multinational brands, with deep experience advising clients in both domestic and international markets.

A seasoned strategist, Tim works creatively with clients to help them identify their objectives and chart a clear path to achieve them. He is always planning ahead—anticipating challenges, identifying favorable offramps to disputes, and structuring matters so that adversaries are incentivized to take those offramps. Tim’s forward-thinking, pragmatic style ensures that clients are not only protected, but are also positioned to resolve disputes efficiently and advantageously.

“His knowledge of his field is clearly particularly high, but most importantly he is able to deliver the salient legal points in an understandable way for non-experts. Knowing that we have a very knowledgeable, considerate and caring legal representative is incredibly reassuring.”

His work spans litigation and arbitration involving trademarks, trade secrets, contractual obligations, and restrictive covenants. He provides actionable guidance at every stage, from structuring and protecting franchise brand assets, to navigating cross-border disputes.

Tim also offers both offensive and defensive advertising advice, guiding clients through truth-in-advertising compliance, health and safety claims, and environmental marketing. His counsel helps clients promote their brands confidently while minimizing legal risk, or in the case of competitors, ensuring market practices.

In the media industry, Tim advises on high-profile film and media production projects, representing both content creators and producers. He structures and negotiates deals, protects IP rights, and manages the legal complexities of content creation and distribution.
