

Daniel R. Wilson

PARTNER

WASHINGTON, DC

PHONE: 202.378.5396

EMAIL: DANIEL.WILSON@HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

OVERVIEW

With a gift for working across cultures, Dan represents clients in a variety of complex international trade matters, including antidumping and countervailing duty proceedings and high-stakes enforcement matters before U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

Dan knew from an early age that his career would have an international focus. Fascinated by international affairs in college and his post-graduation experience working overseas, he chose University of California College of the Law, San Francisco for his law degree thanks to the school's strong international program. In his decade plus in practice, Dan has focused exclusively on matters related to international trade law and policy. Clients value Dan's blend of practicality and creativity as he develops effective strategies that consider client business needs as they navigate the maze of trade laws and regulations.

Dan has substantial experience representing a broad range of both U.S.-based and foreign companies in antidumping and countervailing duty proceedings before the U.S. Department of Commerce and the U.S. International Trade Commission. He has successfully represented foreign exporters and manufacturers in achieving significant reductions—or even outright elimination—of duty liability for clients in the home appliance, consumer products, and heavy industry sectors.

Industries

Manufacturing
Technology
Transportation

Services

Customs
Evasion & Circumvention
Forced Labor
International Trade & Supply Chain
International Trade Remedies

Dan also advises clients in high-stakes regulatory matters and represents them in enforcement proceedings before U.S. Customs and Border Protection. He has assisted clients in complying with the U.S. ban on the importation of goods produced in whole or in part from forced labor and has guided clients through investigations of alleged duty evasion under the Enforce and Protect Act. He has also advised clients on navigating duties imposed on steel and aluminum products pursuant to Section 232 of Trade Expansion Act of 1962 and on imports from China pursuant to Section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974.

An experienced litigator, Dan has achieved significant victories for his clients in appeals of trade agency decisions before the U.S. Court of International Trade and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. In addition, Dan has assisted clients with various trade policy and lobbying efforts before the U.S. Congress, the U.S. Department of Commerce, and the U.S. Trade Representative.

Experience

- Represented manufacturer in antidumping administrative reviews and resulting litigation before the U.S. Court of International Trade related to large power transformers from Korea.
- Represented manufacturer in antidumping investigation and administrative review and countervailing duty investigations involving utility scale wind towers from Indonesia. Successfully argued for revocation of the countervailing duty order before the U.S. Court of International Trade and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.
- Represented large multinational manufacturer in an antidumping investigation of large residential washers from China and a Section 201 Safeguards case against large residential washers.
- Represented steel producers involved in several antidumping investigations and administrative reviews and subsequent litigation related to various steel products from Korea.
- Represented chemical manufacturer in antidumping duty investigation on superabsorbent polymers from Korea.
- Represented importer and affiliated multinational manufacturer in investigation conducted by U.S. Customs and Border Protection under the Enforce and Protect Act.

Experience

- Represented importer and manufacturer of automotive parts in successful litigation before the U.S. Court of International Trade contesting unlawful duties assessed by U.S. Customs and Border Protection.
- Represented pharmaceutical companies in compliance with U.S. Customs and Border Protection country of origin and marking rules.

Recognition

- Law360 International Trade MVP, 2023

Education

- J.D., University of California College of the Law, San Francisco
  - cum laude
  - Hastings International & Comparative Law Review, Editor-in-Chief
- B.A., Columbia College of Columbia University
  - French and Francophone Studies

Admissions

- District of Columbia
- Maryland
- U.S. Court of International Trade
- U.S. Court of Appeals, Federal Circuit

Community Leadership

Dan places a high priority on pro bono work, often representing clients in large, multi-plaintiff matters over the course of several years. He has also represented pro bono clients in immigration matters before U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service, clemency matters before the U.S. Department of Justice, and parole proceedings before the U.S. Parole Commission.

International Trade Law: 2024
Year in Review & Outlook for 2025